KFE4Skills Showcase Programme 2021

Kent Further Education Welcome

Welcome to the Kent Further Education KFE4Skills Showcase. This is our third KFE4Skills annual event, which many will know has previously been based on a successful inter-college competition format, closely linked to supporting potential entrants to World Skills UK regional heats, whilst also showcasing student skills and building confidence in the 300+ students involved as competitors or event helpers each year.

Despite the Covid 19 pandemic, for 2021 we were determined not cancel KFE4Skills and have instead opted for a celebratory end-of-year skills showcase. As usual there are over twenty industry skills included from automotive to welding! Equally many students from all three of Kent and Medway's fantastic FE colleges (and twelve campus sites) are taking part.

It has been an extraordinary time since KFE4Skills 2020. It has been a year where our amazing Kent and Medway FE college students have shown their resilience and determination despite disruption to the normal patterns of teaching, learning and assessment. Meanwhile our fantastic staff have demonstrated their professionalism and ability to rapidly adapt in the face of huge practical, technical, planning and even personal challenges since March 2020.

KFE4Skills 2021 naturally will feel very different to our competitions, but we hope the virtual showcase format of the day will enable even more students and staff to participate and enjoy the parts of the programme most relevant to them. The showcase also provides us our first ever substantial archive of student showcase videos, which we are confident shows why further education is best delivered by FE colleges. Thank you to all those that have participated and to those involved in making the event happen. We hope that you will enjoy the day...

Event Format & Remo Platform

To take part in the day via Remo you will need to use this link:

<https://lounge.digileaders.com/e/kfe4skills-2021-showcase/register> which you will have been sent, if you correctly registered for KFE4Skills via the KFE website.

Remo is an exciting virtual conference hall enabling delegates to arrive and be seated with delegates, colleagues, or in KFE4Skills' case with other students or staff from home or other colleges. Combined with using this programme, it is an ideal way to choose which parts of the day you wish to watch (or participate in) and sit back and enjoy the series of showcases being presented.

Once you arrive in the virtual conference hall, you will be on one of 4 floors. To get more out of the day and the Remo platform, it is possible for delegates to have direct video conversations with others at their table (rather like Zoom, Google Meet or Teams) or even move tables to speak to other delegates for networking purposes.

You will also see useful options to look up others at the event, direct message and submit questions during the day. The core showcase presentations and videos will suspend the table conversation function, whilst allowing communication with via the messaging and Q&A functions during the day.

KFE would like to acknowledge and thank Digital Leaders Ltd, who will be supporting the Remo platform and the technical requirements of our presentations and video showcases during the event. To find out more about Remo visit: <https://remo.co/guided-tours/>

Event Host

KMTV presenter and KMFM radio broadcaster Nicola Everett will be helping host the KFE4Skills showcase. Nicola has had a varied career in radio and multimedia and is currently overseeing the KentOnline.co.uk service. Nicola is in fact a former FE college staff member having worked at Canterbury College in marketing and PR and has also lectured. Nicola's experience as an event compere will help ensure KFE4Skills has a professional feel.

Post Event Information

Post event, delegates will be able to download an updated version of this programme which will include the full participant listing. All registered students involved whether showcase participants, technical helpers or models will receive a special commemorative medal and certificate via their home colleges. The recorded and edited REMO feed and videos will also be added to KFE's site: www.kentfurthereducation.org
